VOL. XII, No. 21.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1951

FOUR PAGES

FOUR TO CONTEST CHAIR

Musical Club To Sponsor Classical Ballet

The Musical Club is presenting a program on Sunday, March 11, in the Mixed Lounge, SUB, featuring two artists, Jeanne Rogers and Eva Saito, and the University Ballet Club.

A short, classical ballet, "Etude", by Chopin, will be produced by the Ballet Club. This is their fifth year on the campus, but they are without the services of the professional instructor who left last fall, leaving direction and management to Elaine Fitzpatrick and Grant Strate.

Jeanne Rogers, Arts and Sc. 3, is known to the students for her sterling performance in "Club '51." She is also a member of the Mixed Chorus. Before coming to the U of A, Jeanne starred in high school operettas and teen shows.

Eva Saito is on the teaching staff of Alberta College and she has had warm praise for her ability as a pianist.

Acclaimed

Eric Harvie, left, is new Theatrical Director, and David McDonald is acclaimed as NFCS Representative on Council.

Drama Club Stages Glass Menagerie

Next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 13, 14 and 15, the Dramatic Society will present its major spring production, "The Glass Menagerie", by Tennessee Williams. Play will be presented in the Men's Lounge of the SUB at 8:30 p.m. in a "theatre-in-the-round" technique. This "new" style of presentation seats the spectators on all four sides of the players.

Tickets for "The Glass Menagerie" are on sale at the Students' Union office, the Arts basement, at the door, and at Mike's Newsstand. Tickets cost only 60c (less than the average movie) with Students' Union cards and 75c for those without cards.

Vice-Chairman UAB

Miller Wood

RALPH MILLER

Extra-curricular Activities:
Interface Hockey.
Gateway staff.
Debating Society.

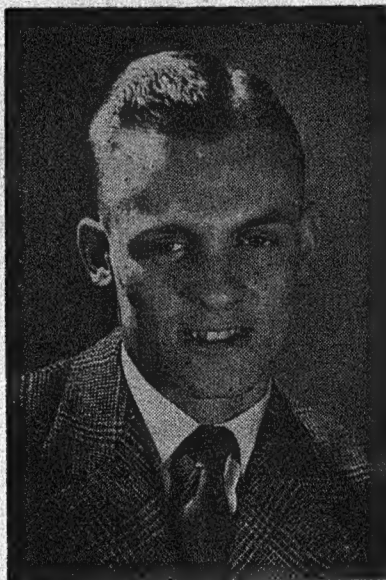

Platform:
It is not the task of a UAB member to force his own views on the UAB of the Students' Council. The job of a member of the UAB is to determine the opinion of the student body on sports on the campus, and then map out the UAB program accordingly. With that end in view, I shall, if elected, strive for closer liaison between the UAB and the students of the University. The forthcoming football plebiscite is an attempt to determine student opinion which I wholeheartedly endorse, and I am prepared to do all that lies within my power to fulfill the desires of the students of the University on this issue. If the students are prepared to consider questions relating to sports on the campus carefully, and express their opinions clearly, I am prepared to do all that I can to further their wishes.

BILL WOOD

Extra-curricular Activities:
Associate Editor, Stet, '50-'51.
Gateway, '50-'51.
Debating Society, '50-'51.
Spectator at a hockey game (once), Feb., '50.

Platform:
1. Greater control of UAB funds by the students.
2. Return of football ONLY on a paying basis, with no increase in fees.
3. No reduction of minor sports in the interests of major sports.

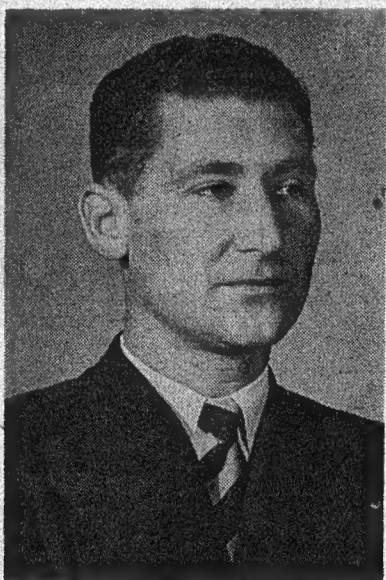

For President

IVAN HEAD

Extra-curricular Activities:
Gateway, '48-'49.
Evergreen and Gold, '47-'48.
Football Parade Marshal, '50.
President, Interfraternity Council, '50-'51.
Secretary, Big Block "A" Club, '50-'51.

Platform:
1. Sound, enthusiastic student government.
2. Pursue with all vigour the early construction of Stage Two of the Students' Union Building.
3. Work through the medium of Faculty Club presidents to eliminate time-table bottlenecks.
4. Undertake to bring back football if the student referendum favors it and if it is feasible to do so.

JACK JOYCE

Extra-curricular Activities:
International Relations Club, '47-'48.
Newman Club, '47-'48.
Public Speaking Club, '48-'49.
Debating Club, '48-'49.
Debating Club, '49-'50.
Manager, Debating Club, '50-'51.
Law Rep., Students' Council, '50-'51.

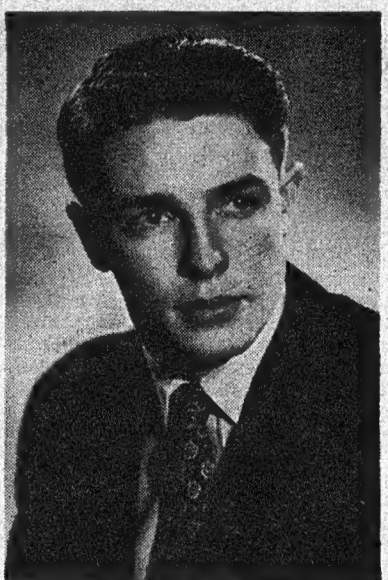

Platform:
1. A greater measure of public relations between the U of A and the citizens of the entire province, perhaps in such a way as not to restrict "Field Days" or such to the Agriculture Faculty. The success of the Ag Field Day bespeaks a need for further expansion of our public relations.
2. Implicit in the duties of any forthcoming Council is the one of furthering the Second Unit of the Students' Union Building. Every effort will be made to see that this unit is not forgotten.
3. Incumbent also upon the next Council will be the duty of furthering the cause of football on the campus, and if, in the forthcoming plebiscite, the students should agree to support football, then, if I am elected, everything possible will be done to make it a success.
4. As insignificant as it may seem, if I am elected I shall do everything possible to see that an additional phone is installed in the Arts Building.

W. J. "RIP" KLUFAS

Extra-curricular Activities:
Frosh Ag. Rep., '48-'49.
Ag Rep. on NFCS COMMITTEE, '49-'50.
Ag Council Rep., '50-'51.

Padre, Burial of Apathy, '49-'50.
Ag Field Day official, '49-'51.

Platform:
1. To promote student interest in Council affairs and Council interest in student affairs.
2. The question of the Students' Union Building: (a) Promotion of better student use of the facilities at their disposal; (b) furtherance of the business of the second stage.
3. To carry out the wishes of the student body on the football plebiscite.
4. To encourage Council co-ordination on matters cultural and athletic in the best interest of the students at large.

PETER LOUGHEED

Extra-curricular Activities:
Froshman Class President, '47-'48.
Gateway staff, '48-'49.
Public Relations Officer, '49-'50.
Secretary, Students' Union, '50-'51.
Committee for Second Stage of Students' Union Building, '50-'51.

Platform:
1. Make a concerted effort for the construction of the second stage of the Students' Union Building with no further financial burden on the student body.
2. Give all possible assistance and support to every campus organization affiliated with the Students' Union.
3. Foster and develop better alumni relations and, at the same time, further develop public relations with the provincial and municipal governments.
4. Arrange the scheduling of student functions in a more satisfactory manner.
5. Properly promote football next fall if the students indicate that they favor it in the forthcoming plebiscite and on the basis that there be no compulsory fee.
6. Strive to maintain the same high standard of student government as has been evident in the past.

For Treasurer

KEN MANNING

Extra-curricular Activities:
Director, Telephone Book, '50-'51.
Director, Frosh Handbook, '50-'51.
Advertising Manager, E & G, '50-'51.
Alarm, '49-'50.

Platform:
Since Council members can only act as a body, it is difficult to outline what might be my concrete platform.

I definitely would like to see Stage Two of the SUB go up as soon as possible. The facilities which it is to provide are all badly needed on the campus.

Should football return, it will need continued student support throughout the entire season. If we have football next fall, and if I am elected, I will do all in my power to aid in its success.

The soundness of a central co-ordination body such as the Students' Union depends on a close liaison between the Union and all organizations affiliated with it. Steps have been taken in this direction and more may be undertaken from time to time as the need arises.

National Secretary CYH To Introduce Hostelling Thurs.

By Kenneth D. Butterworth
Vice-Pres., Edmonton Div., C.Y.H.

The adventure of trips around the world, vacation opportunities for all, week-end excursions, visiting new places and meeting new people, are all available to you in the Canadian Youth Hostels Association. Mr. Chuck Harris, National Executive Secretary of the C.Y.H., will introduce this subject of hostelling to the campus for the first time on Thursday, March 15, at 4:30 p.m., in Arts 111. The local executive extends a welcome to all University students and faculty members who enjoy the outdoors.

Lively Campaign As 17 Nominated

Six Students' Council positions will be decided at the annual Students' Union elections next Wednesday.

Liveliest presidential campaign since two years ago is shaping up as four candidates are in the running. They are Ivan Head, Jack Joyce, and Peter Lougheed, all Law students, and "Rip" Klufas, an Ag student.

Two students are contesting the secretaryship of the Union, and two more the position of treasurer of the University Athletic Board. Three are running for each of the following Council seats: Treasurer of the Union; Vice-chairman of UAB; and Arts and Science Representative.

Acclaimed are the following students: Vice-president, Students' Union, Violet King; Secretary, UAB, Ellinor Cook; N.F.C.U.S. Rep. David McDonald; Musical Director, Al Armstrong; Politico-Speaking Director, Grath Fryett; Theatrical Arts Director, Eric Harvie; President Wauneta Society, Joyce Love.

Voting for the six contested seats will take place Wednesday, March 14, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., in the following rotundas: Arts Building, Education Building, Medical Building, Nurses' Residence, and Students' Union Building.

All Students' Union members (as per the Constitution) are eligible to vote. Only Arts and Science students may cast a ballot for the Representative of that faculty.

Ag, Law, Uurses, Med Dent, Ed, and Engineering Reps on Council will be decided by separate faculty club elections sometime before March 20.

Also before students on Wednesday will be the following plebiscite question: "If football returns to the campus, would you be willing to support it?"

Each student will also be provided with a ballot to vote for the recipient of the Joseph Dolson Oliver Mother-Sill Memorial Scholarship. The Scholarship is to be awarded "to a student selected for outstanding contribution to student life in the University, especially through good citizenship and active support of student government."

The Gateway is carrying full coverage of candidates, their record and their platforms. Many of them have already presented themselves to the student body over the Radio Society's University Night schedule of programs and at the election speech meeting in Con Hall yesterday morning.

Con Hall was packed as seventeen candidates spoke for brief periods. Lively, humorous speeches were the order of the day. The hour-long session was spiced by three brass bands and campaign signs.

The lists are accessible as follows:

Agriculture: Office of the Dean of Agriculture.

Arts and Science: Bulletin board outside the Registrar's Office.

Commerce: Bulletin board outside the Registrar's Office.

Education: Education Bulletin board to the right of entrance to Room 214.

Engineering: Dean Hardy's Office.

School of Graduate Studies: Bulletin board outside the Registrar's Office.

Arts and Science Rep

MARGARET ANN BRINE

Margaret Ann Brine is the one who should represent the Arts and Science Faculty on the Students' Council. Although she has no active executive responsibilities, she has been very interested in many organizations on the campus such as the Philosophical Society and ISS. She is very well known for her piano performances both on the campus and off, and would make a charming representative. She is keen, she has originality, and she would add new zest to any organization, particularly the Students' Council.

DAVE GELL

Extra-curricular Activities:
Radio announcer, producer, operator, writer: CJCJ, CFAC, CFBN, CJCA, CFRN, CKUA.
Gateway columnist.

Platform:
An Arts and Science Representative should keep in contact not only with his own faculty, but with all others on the campus. He is, after all, a member of a student body that is working for the welfare of the greatest number, not merely his own faculty. He should be able to represent his own, while at the same time consider the other faculties.

I believe I will be able to perform this duty through my contacts as columnist of The Gateway, and through the personal contacts made during my three years at the University of Alberta.

Extra-curricular Activities:
Vice-president, Freshman Council, '50-'51.
Program Committee, Radio Society, '50-'51.
Outdoor Club, '50-'51.

Platform:
1. To further the integration of Arts and Science faculty.
2. To endeavour to increase university spirit.
3. To represent not only Arts and Science students, but the student body as a whole.

Casting Ballots

We're after supposin' that the greataest day o' the year is comin' up agin. Aye.

And although we might mean St. Patrick's Day, we don't. We have in mind another great tradition: Election Day. For here we are, far enough on into March to worry about dropping ballots into boxes.

This year there's really something "for which we are thankful". There are both something and somebody to vote for. We have the football issue to discuss, and, as a strong contrast with last year's electoral situation, we have two, three, and even four candidates contesting some of the more important seats on Council.

There is no sense in discussing the football question here and now; it has been hashed over so much already that it is ready to be served a second time in Caf. Most people either think it can be brought back as some sort of major or intermediate sport, without any untoward result, or they do not. Next Wednesday a plebiscite will indicate the students' wishes. Most of the candidates say they will govern themselves accordingly.

There's one unfortunate thing about this year's candidates, and that is precisely that they refuse to take a stand on this question. They have chosen to be wishy-washy about the whole thing, although certain of them undeniably have strong hidden convictions one way or the other.

Nevertheless, this year's nominees seem to be a capable lot, taking them as a whole. Many of you have heard them at the Thursday election meeting in Con Hall, or on the radio. Whether you have or not, this issue of The Gateway gives you the chance to read their platforms and look at their record. Please, people, don't just look at their pictures!

Our congratulations to those acclaimed for office. The list looks all right to us.

We hope next Wednesday's results will indicate intelligent voting, as well as plenty of it.

O.K., boys, that's the picture. Y'know the rules. An' remember, no low blows, and pull outta the clinches fast. Good luck to all o' ya. Now back to yer corners and come out fightin'.

LETTER OF THANKS

Editor, The Gateway.

Dear Sir:

Through the medium of your columns, may I, on behalf of the Commerce Club executive, express our appreciation and gratitude of all those who contributed to the success of club activities during the past year. President Stewart as Honorary President of the club, Prof. J. D. Campbell and other faculty instructors, Mr. J. Washburn of NES, and many Commerce students—all gave unstintingly of their time and efforts. Our thanks also go out to the Hudson's Bay Dept. Store, Ann's Dress Shop, College Clothes Ltd., and the Garneau Theatre for their fine assistance. To you and The Gateway staff for your publicity on our activities, a vote of thanks from myself, the executive, and the Commerce Club.

I should like, sir, to draw your attention to the contribution of Commerce students to campus life. Treasurer of Students' Union, Treasurer of the UAB, Presidents of the Senior Class, SCM, Hillel Club, and Wrestling Club, Editor of The Alarm, Manager of the Pandas, Frosh Representative, Director of the Students' Union Telephone Directory, and two fraternity presidents, constitute some of the posts held during the 1950-51 term by these students.

The Commerce Club looks forward to serving the student body in as many capacities in the ensuing year, and urge other faculty clubs to match our contribution for better campus spirit in the future.

Yours very truly,

A. FITZSIMMONS,
Pres., Commerce Club,
University of Alberta.

MALCONTENT

Editor, The Gateway.

Dear Sir:

Who's perfect indeed! I find it surprising to hear any "American" say that, "In Britain, Canada and the United States anyone, regardless of color, place of birth, parentage and political affiliation can obtain an education as high as is wanted, advance in jobs, good food, clothing and housing and a host of other things." This may be true in Britain, it is decidedly less true in Canada, and even less true in the United States. One has only to examine "Free America's" attitude towards negroes. Examples crop up every day.

As for malcontents, any semblance of freedom or justice which we enjoy today is directly due to people who were not satisfied with government policies as they found them.

A. STEWART.

COMPLAINT

Editor, The Gateway.

Dear Sir:

Quert has gone too far! He has on different occasions severely criticized the Engineers, made insulting remarks about Calgary's football team, and in the latest Gateway has assumed that all athletes are flat-headed, backwoods types, etc.

Anyone of these comments would be enough to incite the ire of most U of A students. This last bit of wisdom is especially ridiculous, however. Certainly, most of Quert's athletic activity has been confined to the checker board or he wouldn't make such a statement. He is obviously in need of something to broaden his outlook on such subjects.

I could suggest numerous cures for his type of constructive criticism. I shall withhold these comments, for fear of shocking those students who do not read The Alarm.

I would recommend, however, that Quert partake of some form of exercise. The result would probably be a reduction of the lard content of his fat head. Peddling his "feathery postcards" in a door-to-door campaign across Northern Alberta might improve his condition.

Yours sincerely,

PETER SIMON.

ANTI-CONSCRIPTION

Editor, The Gateway.

Dear Sir:

In view of the importance of the conscription issue to Canadian students, we wish to place before them our position on the matter, and trust that you will co-operate by printing this letter.

We are, without qualification, opposed to conscription at this time; to introduce conscription of Canadian youth would be directly contrary to student interest, and against the wishes of the majority of students. Such a measure be considered necessary for Canada's defence in the present situation; there is no foreseeable danger that Canada might be attacked by any other country. Our boundaries are not at the Han or the Oder; nevertheless, the furnishing of Canadian troops for a standing army in Europe or Asia would mean that Canada could be automatically committed in a war. Any forces supplied will be under the orders of those who wish to spread their version of the "American way of life" with napalm and mortar fire, leaving the Canadian people without power to decide whether Canada should or should not be involved.

Canadian students can take a step towards peace by demonstrating their opposition to conscription. Each student should ask himself, "Am I willing to be conscripted to fight under United States command for a policy which the U.S. Government will decide?" He should express his opinion to those around him, as well as in debates and discussions on conscription, in order that the Government shall not take the fatal step of conscripting Canadian youth without hearing the voice of those most vitally affected.

Students in L.P.P. clubs will welcome and support other students in their expression of opposition to conscription, no matter from what premises this opposition is derived.

Yours sincerely,

National Committee
L.P.P. Student Club

PROSPECTIVE STUDENT AID

Editor, The Gateway.

Dear Sir:

Your editorial of February 23rd, 1951, raises more questions than can be answered at this date. The extension of the idea of the Visitors' Day as sponsored by the Agriculture Club to the entire University certainly merits study. I am writing you, however, to state that plans of a different character are being made to assist the prospective university student.

A letter outlining these plans is being sent soon to the principals of all Alberta High Schools over the signature of Mr. A. A. Aldridge, the Supervisor of Guidance of the Department of Education, and myself.

A new bulletin "Information for Prospective University Students" has been written and will be ready for press this week. The bulletin deals with questions the student is likely to ask. It is written in direct style. All technical information about courses, fees, admission requirements, possible careers and available awards is clearly summarized in appendices.

The student is being asked to complete a general information form as soon after Easter as possible. This will mean that information about the intentions of the student will be received here before school-closing in June. One obvious advantage of this plan is that there is time for checking, for correspondence, and when feasible, for personal interview.

The practice of school visitation by University officials was initiated some years ago; annual visits to Calgary and Edmonton Schools have been customary. This picture is now being extended. Mr. Aldridge is arranging for me to make a two weeks' visits to schools in Southern Alberta during the latter half of April. I hope also to visit schools in and near Edmonton in May. In succeeding years other areas will be visited, the hope being to make individual contact with all the schools of the province.

I am sure that The Gateway itself can be of great assistance in developing closer relationships between the University and the schools and the homes of the province. Your readers may have forgotten that The Gateway goes to each school. I know of at least one principal, at some distance from the University, who makes regular use of it in his school.

Yours sincerely,

A. J. COOK,
Director.

CORRECTION

Editor, The Gateway.

Dear Mr. Editor,

We of St. Stephen's College were honored to find ourselves appearing twice in the headlines of the last issue of your noteworthy publication. On reading the articles I was also honored to find my name appearing in print, I don't see it very often that way. The way I found it, however, was a source of no small amount of surprise. Coming to the end of a quotation concerning the happenings recently occurring in our residence and having just concluded from the profundity of the statement that it must have been made by a mentality no smaller than that of Mortimer Snerd I discovered that I myself was given credit. Fortunately someone forgot the quotations so I did not actually accuse anyone of doing the foul deed and am very happy not to have suffered many twinges of conscience lest someone feel the hurt of having been unjustly accused. Actually the crime was not such that it calls for open warfare. The Katzenjammer Kids do the same thing every now and then and get away with it.

As for our "Formal" which failed because of the poverty of our residents we must say in our defence that our boys didn't want a formal so we didn't have one. Incidentally, I would suggest to other campus organizations that if they want the most reasonable and one of the nicest spots to have a dance of any kind they might well make good use of the S.U.B. There's some of my money in it. I think we ought to use it.

We don't know where your information comes from. We are happy to have your interest in the happenings in St. Steve's and would be happy to supply the straight goods if you want them. In the meantime if you should decide to shoot your reporter we would never miss him.

Sincerely,

Blair McPherson
Pres. St. Steve's Council

Student Street

by Dave Gell

The insult of the year was made this week.

Yours truly was accused of being the author of Poiny, by several people.

The fact that the column has readers is in itself something to be amazed at (you should pardon the preposition). But to be accused of being the author of the drivel . . .

If needs be I shall take out a sworn statement denying my having anything to do with it.

FRATS AND FASTS

Quite a number of people are eating very meagre meals (this time NOT in reference to caf prices in particular), and spending long nights at home.

The Frat formals for this term seem to be about exhausted, and with them the capital and the individuals thereof involved. But, oh man, what memories!

LE JEU C'EST LA CHOSE

Have often wondered who first coined the phrase, "History repeats itself."

It was probably the Greeks. At any rate, things seem to be heading that way again, this time with regard to the theatre.

Skipping a long history of the theatre which we had written, we'll let suffice a brief mention that in the days of the B.C. players (that being years, not province), theatres were round. The players would dart on the stage with the audience seated all around, their location being an indication of their social status.

Someone or other has been advocating a return to this style of presentation for years, but it's only within the last decade that it seems to be catching on again. Now it's to be tried here.

Beginning a three-day run next Thursday, the Drama Club will present "The Glass Menagerie" in the Men's Lounge of the SUB. The "Theatre-in-the-Round," as it's called today, permits a much more intimate relation of actor to audience. The audience has more the impression of being "guests," as they sit close to the actors on all sides (or on occasions on three sides, permitting the entrance and exist of players on the fourth).

It should be quite an experience, and pleasantly enough it costs only sixty cents a head. All two-headed engineers (see Student Street February 16) pay double.

MAH FRIENDS—AND YOU ARE MAH FRIENDS . . .

It appears the impossible is happening this year, and we're frankly delighted.

After the lethargic beginning the governmental phase of U of A life had in the class elections last fall, things have picked up amazingly. Excitement is mounting for the Students' Union elections next Wednesday.

Whereas in past years acclamations have too often been the order of the day, this year several are contesting positions.

Something that seems to be missed by a great number, or at least has been in past years, is that interest in campus activities bears meaning beyond the university. If we have the get up and go to nominate candidates, support and vote for them, we're beginning to put into practice what too many people in the outside world forget.

Universal manhood suffrage was purchased at incredible cost of human life, pain and torture. Yet today the democracies so often fail to make use of this precious possession to its full extent.

Making use of the right to vote involves more than merely marking a ballot. It means getting to know as much as possible about the individuals who are seeking public office. It means finding out who is running for self aggrandizement, who for sincere desire to further public welfare, who for a balance of these. It means taking the time to listen to the candidate, talking opinions over with others—both the informed and the Little Joe, the guy next door. After all, the people who represent us, should represent us.

While it may seem very trivial to us here now to be voting for some nice kids we know—some who sincerely want the opportunity to learn something about student government, some who just want to be able to say they were elected to council—what we do, or fail to do, is pretty well indicative of how we'll behave when we leave the university.

A careful perusal of the front page of this Gateway and some research on your own into the merits of each candidate in our elections can assure you of getting the best government for this campus. Next Wednesday voting will be held at various points on the campus. Take a few minutes to present your Campus "A" Card, fill in the ballots, and have a clear conscience.

After that oration, I feel so good I forgive Qwert.

Visitors Enjoy Displays, Tour Of Second "Ag Day"

By D. C. Brinton

From streams of bright yellow school buses and cars, some 1,800 of the "Public of Alberta" descended on the Arts Building last Saturday in response to an invitation to acquaint themselves with "Our activities at University".

For the second year in a row the Agricultural Club, with strong co-operation from the Household Economics Club, has made a success of one of the toughest but most effective bits of Public Relations work ever attempted at this University.

The visitors were High School students from all over central Alberta, Schools of Agriculture students, farmers, business men, officials of commercial firms and of Agriculture branches of the government, all here to take advantage of the chance to be taken on a well-planned tour (complete with guides and running commentary) of the University—on exhibition for the day. Quite a number of University students from all faculties made the tour, and expressed surprise at discovering all that is going on here.

The tour took in all the campus buildings, the University Farm, included a lunch at the cafeteria, a movie in Med, and took 3-4 hours to complete.

Descriptive displays were set up all over, showing what students taking Agriculture and House Economics are studying, experiments and research projects were pointed out and explained to show the visitors the basis of "Science At Your Service," and all facilities were generally outlined to show prospective Varsity students what the faculties Agriculture and Household Economics had to offer.

The whole tour was well received, but the most popular points seemed to be the Entomology and Zoology displays in the Med Building, the whole of the House Ec display, the University Farm and, of course, our new Students' Union Building.

It is unfortunate that the House Ecceers can not be seen in action every day, for it warms a home-lovers heart to see these students energetically weaving, cooking, sewing and designing as they were on Saturday. While hundreds of fascinated guests were shown through, "Miss Patrick's girls" were bravely "Homemaking" away, stressing their slogan for the day, "A Starry Future in House Ec" by including everything from interior decorating to baking pineapple meringue pie in their display.

Miss Peg Cross, president of the House Ec Club, and all of her assistants are to be highly commended for their colorful contribution.

A visitor from Vermilion, Mr. Dan Gablehaus, summed up the visitors' opinions of the day when he said, "It's darn nice to get a chance to see what's going on behind those brick walls at the University, and to know where the information we get has its start."

Ron Harvie, president of the Ag Club and director of the field day, and John Boras, tour manager, agreed that the day had been a definite success.

"I believe the purposes of the Visitors' Day were fully accomplished," offered Mr. Boras. "I'm proud of the co-operation shown by the Ag students and by the House Ec students, and I'm grateful for the unrestrained assistance of the University in general. A project like this requires a tremendous amount of organization, and could not be attempted without all this help."

The success of this, their second Visitors' Day, bolsters what Qwert

Studio Theatre's "Anna Christie" Opens March 14

Studio Theatre's next production will be Eugene O'Neill's "Anna Christie," opening on Wednesday, March 14, and continuing nightly, with the exception of Good Friday, March 23, until the final performance on Saturday, March 24.

"Anna Christie" is from the earlier writings of the playwright who has provided the American theatre with the greatest and most dynamic plays in its history. The story of the regeneration of a wanton woman is a common one, but it is handled by O'Neill in an individual and gripping fashion. The play comes direct from his experience of life in the days when he shipped around the world on tramp steamers and throughout the fatalistic tragedy is felt the presence of the sea, the symbol of life, and the fog that lies around man's intellect. As the closing lines so powerfully express: "Fog, fog, fog, all bloody time. You can't see where you are going, no. Only that old devil sea, she knows!"

The cast includes Gwen Pharis Ringwood in the title role, Mary Samuels, Albert Christianson, Walter Kaasa, Clarence Emard and Al Selinger.

Beverly Wilson is directing "Anna Christie," and after the performance on opening night will speak about the play, its background and production. The costumes have been designed by Gwytha Evans of the University's Fine Arts Department, and the sets by Pauline Sutermeister, University student.

Tickets are now on sale at the box office, Hut A, on the University campus, Phone 369369.

Commerce Club Dance Held Sat.

Members of the U of A Commerce Club held their annual semi-formal banquet and dance Saturday, March 3, in the ABC rooms of the MacDonald Hotel. L. Y. Cairns, K.C., was guest speaker of the evening.

Alan Fitzsimmons, this year's president of the organization, was toastmaster. Prof. J. D. Campbell gave the toast to the graduates and Ted Allen gave the reply. Ned Chambers gave the toast to the University and Mr. W. Gainer gave the reply.

During the banquet Gordon Smith, the 1951-52 president of the club, presented Mr. Cairns with a gift as he is retiring from lecturing this year. Kay Balfour presented Prof. Campbell with a gift on behalf of the senior class.

Hillel Talk Thursday

The second in a series of lectures sponsored by the University of Alberta will be given by Rabbi B. Leon Hurwitz, Hillel Counsellor, on the topic, "Judaism as revealed by its Festivals." The talk will take place Thursday, March 15th, in A135 at 4:30 p.m. Dr. G. F. McNally, Chancellor of the University, will be chairman.

Election Notes

By MAC

MOST PEOPLE JUST SAY "HELLO"

Certain candidate in the forthcoming elections was at home, waiting for a phone call. The phone rang, and our hero rushed to the phone. Expecting the caller to be a particular friend of his, he lifted the receiver and said: "Vote as you please, but please vote for me."

A complete stranger was at the other end of the line.

A little egotism goes a long way.

Not that egotism is little known in these here parts. In fact, almost all of us have a touch of it. For that reason, I admire those of my friends who admit they possess this quality. There is nothing more hypocritical than denying one's amour-propre.

Too often excellent administrative potentialities and leadership qualities go by the boards because we are afraid of sneering doolittles who accuse others of being ambitious. It has been my experience that, usually, self-confidence exists only where an individual has a sure foot and a strong mind.

Oh, yes, some people carry the "Love Thyself" axiom too far. But locally, this seems to happen very seldom. The past year's Students' Union officials have been capable—and they're darn fools if they don't accept this comment graciously and without being slightly red under the ears.

WHERE HAVE I HEARD THIS BEFORE?

They have such refined and delicate palates That they can discover no one worthy of their ballots. And then when some one terrible gets elected They say, There, that's just what I expected!

Ogden Nash.

As this column is written, many little birds are flying in and out of the room, dropping hints as to who will be running this year. By the time you read this, you'll know who the candidates are. According to my birdies, most of the higher positions are being contested this year.

Will wonders never cease!

Why, the elections might even be as peppy as they were out in Jasper Place last month!

Last year, only two or three positions were filled by election. A wee bit dull. Maybe the change was wrought because we're now in the second half of the century.

PRECIOUS PERTINENT GEMS

What would we do without Bartlett's Familiar Quotations?

And how many people—here at the university or out in the brave, if not new world—would snicker at Daniel Webster's statement: "Sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish, I give my hand and my heart to this vote."

Hear ye, O men and gals of Alberta U, this significant quote:

The freemill, casting with unpurchased hand, Don't strew your pathway with those dreadful URS.

Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote that. He also has this bit of advice for his readers—advice which I do wish our budding politicians would take to heart:

... And when you stick on conversation's burrs, Don't strew your pathway with those dreadful URS.

Finally: "Your every voter, as surely as your chief magistrate, exercises a public trust." (Glover Cleveland.)

It's pretty hard to say much in a platform, because there really isn't too much to take a stand on in campus politics. Candidates might take a tip, though, from this item in the Two Rivers (Wisconsin) Reporter:

Not only has he established a home here, but has also proven himself a very definite asset to this community through his numerous civic affiliations. He is a member of the Elks and the Eagles, and the Calvary English Lutheran church, and the biggest soak in town.

I still think the best way to get students to vote would be to charge them an extra buck in September, and pay it back to them if and when they vote, in March.

Say, that's a pretty good idea! It'd make a swell platform. Think I'll just run along and get myself nominated for something.

See you next Wednesday.

Alberta Wins Assault-At-Arms Again

Campus Sportalk

WHY HOPPEN?

The Golden Bears hockey team hasn't found things too easy while down South. Playing at Colorado College and Denver U, the Bruins managed two wins in four tries. While Colorado College figured to be tough (they won both games), the Denver team was expected to be little match for the locals (Bruins narrowly edged them twice).

This was a bit of a surprise, after the way the Bears last year mangled the Denver squad by 23-2 and 8-1 counts, although the Colorado College outfit have usually had a reputation as a hard-to-beat team.

It looks as if American schools in that area are going in for hockey in a big way. Denver have recently built a new rink, and have been making an effort to get hockey players, and they apparently succeeded.

BIG JOB

Important considerations are involved in the coming elections for UAB positions. With football a possible addition to next year's program, with intramural sports occupying an increasingly big spot in the sports program, and with financing remaining a problem, the job is an important one.

Under the present athletic set-up at U of A, sports are under the control of a board of six members, three students and three faculty representatives whose advisory and liaison services are obviously a necessity. The students on the Board, vice-chairman, secretary, and treasurer, also are members of Students' Council.

The voting set-up of the Board gives the student members the balance of voting strength, since the chairman is the head of the Physical Education department, and votes only in case of a tie. The students, through this set-up, have the opportunity to express the wishes of Council and the student body.

There undoubtedly could be numerous changes made in the set-up, minor modifications under the present set-up which would make the operation of the Board better. But on the whole, the present system is the best way of giving the students of the University a say in the control of the athletic program.

The only alternative is to have faculty control of sports, as is done at many universities. Take your pick.

Because the student members of the UAB do have an important position, it's essential that those elected to fill the Board positions be interested in sports, and have a thorough knowledge of them.

And it's also necessary to have members on the Board who are not opposed to sports or to the UAB. There's nothing wrong with making needed changes, but the senseless haggling which could very well result if the wrong persons were elected would accomplish nothing and cause a lot of trouble.

Keep these things in mind when you vote next Wednesday.

FOOTBALL REFERENDUM

Another thing to keep in mind is the football referendum. You'll be asked if you are willing to support football if it returns this fall on the self-supporting basis recommended by Students' Council earlier this year.

The return of football is the one thing which can give the necessary lift to student spirit when it is needed most—in the fall when freshmen can be made interested in campus activities, and made active members of the student body.

And the new plan, with games at the grid, and a not-too-ambitious schedule to start with, should meet with the approval of most students.

Now, we'll climb down off the soap-box until next year, same time, same place.

Referendum Asks If Students Will Support Football

When Students' Council elections are held on Wednesday, students will also be asked to vote on whether they favor the return of football next fall.

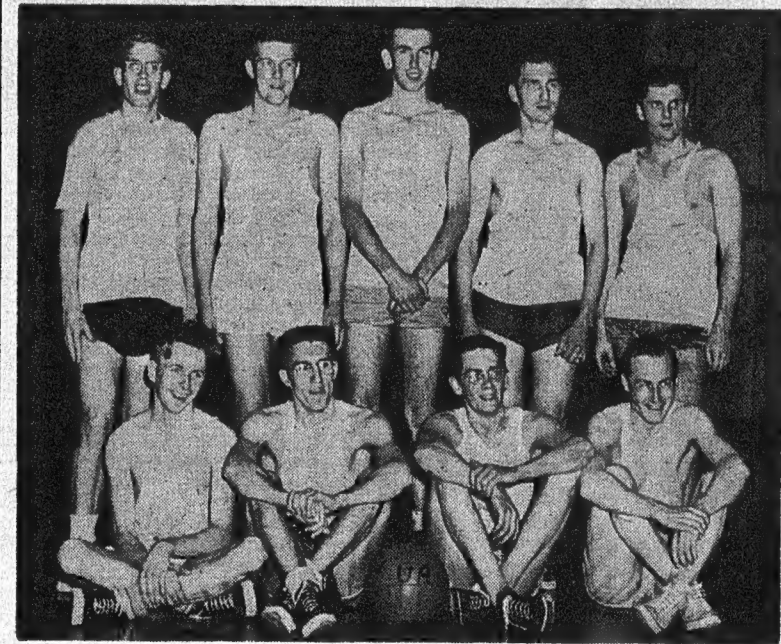

Ballot in the football referendum will ask: "Will you support football if it returns to the campus next year?" This was the wording decided on by the five-member committee appointed by Council to prepare the plebiscite.

No provision will be made to ask for a fee of any kind in connection with the vote. It is being held merely to determine if Council and the Athletic Board can count on student support, according to those in charge.

Plan proposed under which football will be returned if possible is for games to be played at the Varsity grid. It is hoped that a four-game schedule could be arranged to include Saskatchewan, a Montana college, a service team from Alaska,

'Mural "A" Champs

In an all-engineer's final, the beermen's "B" team captured the intramural "A" basketball final. In a two-game total-point series, the "B's" came up with two straight wins. Players are: front row, left to right, Terry Adamson, William Palmer, Robert Brockbank, Cecil Primeau. Back row, Harry Webber, William Kaberry, Maury Green, Lawrence Miskew, Bob Duthie.

Bears Hockey Team Break Even In U.S.A.

The puckchasing Golden Bears completed their season this week, breaking even in a four-game series with Colorado teams. Bruins dropped the first two games, then came back with close victories in the remaining pair.

All the contests were hard-fought affairs, as Colorado College took 7-3 and 8-7 verdicts from the Bruins, then Bears came back with close 5-4 and 7-5 wins over Denver University. Two of the games, the 8-7 Colorado College victory and the 5-4 Bruin win over Denver went into overtime.

First two games, against Colorado College, at Colorado Springs, saw the Southern team dominate the first game, then come back to take an overtime victory after whittling away a big Alberta lead in the second. In the first game, the Colorado team scored four times in the first two periods before the Bears came to life in the last period to get their three markers, while Colorado College were scoring the same number.

Bears Blow Lead

Saturday night the Bears held a decided edge throughout the first two periods and most of the third. They were in front 7-3 until the latter part of the final session, when they tired very badly, and the Southern team tied up the contest. Colorado went on to win 8-7 with a goal at the six-minute mark of the sudden-death overtime period.

Bruins did better against Denver University with two close wins. Playing Monday in the mountain city they came up with a 5-4 overtime win against a rough-and-tough Denver aggregation, much improved over the squad that met the Bears last season.

Final Game Rugged

Most rugged contest of the trip and the top Alberta junior team.

Operating expenses, guarantees, etc., are estimated at about $5,500 for the season, with another $5,500 needed for equipment. The former will have to come from gate receipts, with the latter from reserves. A special equipment reserve and capital reserves would be used to meet that total.

An estimated 1,400 student season tickets would have to be sold, plus general admissions and alumni tickets, to make up the amount required for operating expenses.

Other problems to be met if students vote in favor of the plan will be finding opponents, and getting equipment. Players and coaching should be available.

Senior Ladies In Title Play At Gym

Alberta's two finest senior ladies' basketball teams provide the hoop fare for the Varsity Gym this weekend, when the famous Shooting Stars of Cardston invade Edmonton to defend their title against the Army and Navy Pats, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Large crowds were on hand to watch the two clubs battle it out last spring in Cardston.

The three-game series went the full route, and Cardston won by only a small margin.

Tallest Squad

The Shooting Stars are acclaimed to be the tallest ladies' basketball team in Canada.

Led by the three Beazer sisters and two other skyscrapers, the Stars have a decided advantage over the Pats so far as height is concerned. Pats have to match speed with height.

The provincial final series to be played at the Varsity Drill Hall this Thursday, Friday and Saturday evening will start each night at 8:30 p.m.

It is the kind of basketball fare which seldom gets to show on the big court, but students on the campus from the south country who know the Shooting Stars of Cardston and who have also seen the Pats in action here will tell you that this adds up to a mighty interesting program.

University of Alberta boxers and wrestlers walked off with the honors in the annual Assault-at-Arms held last weekend at Saskatoon. They returned Monday from wheatland bringing with them the aggregate trophy, and the two team trophies at stake in the meet.

Local fighters captured four of the seven wrestling bouts, and then tied the Saskatchewan squad in boxing, each team winning three matches. Verdict went to Alberta on points.

In addition to retaining the Neilson trophy for the meet, the Green and Gold also kept the Dr. Rawson team wrestling trophy, and the Howe boxing award. Both individual awards went to U of S athletes, who took the Beaumont boxing and wrestling trophies.

Hansen Tops Again

Adjudged the top grappler in the meet was lightweight Elson Hansen, last year's winner. Winner of the Beaumont boxing trophy was Norm Sanderson, U of S middleweight.

This award went last year to Alberta's classy Ed French, now graduated.

Winners for Varsity in the wrestling were welterweight Russ Krausert, middleweight Alex Romanuk, middleweight Trevor Fregren, and heavyweight Ben Oliver, who also manages the squad.

Victorious local mitt-slingers were featherweight Malcolm Asplund, welterweight Randall Murray and har-hitting heavyweight Sten Berg. Both Murray and Berg won on second-round TKO's. All others were decisions.

Saskatchewan's three wrestling wins included two won on straight falls, and one overtime decision. In the closing grappling attraction of the meet, Byron Horner of Saskatchewan gained an overtime decision over Albertan Herman Dorin, after Dorin had what could have been the winning hold on his opponent just as the bell went to end the bout.

Another possible Alberta win was turned into a loss when Jerry Moffatt, in a lightweight slug-fest, out-pointed U of S mitt-man Harold Clarke, only to have the verdict awarded to the wheatlander because of low blows. His points, however, counted in the Alberta total.

Spectacular Bout

Heavyweight "rassling" contest between local heavyweight Ben Oliver and Saskatchewan's Frank Bockman was one of the most spectacular of the night, as Oliver scored two falls within six minutes over his less-experienced rival.

Of the Alberta winners, boxer Sten Berg and wrestler Alex Romanuk were the only ones to repeat championship wins of last season.

Intramural Items

With basketball, volleyball and badminton champions declared, the intramural sport scene is fairly quiet except for the hockey playoff finals.

In hockey, the two-game total-goal series is near completion, with Education leading the Pharm-Dent squad by one goal as a result of a 2-1 win last week. The final game was scheduled for Tuesday, but was postponed.

A definite date has not as yet been set for the final. The semi-finals, which were sudden death affairs, saw Education edging the Engineers 3-2, with the Pharm-Dent combine dropping the Pre-Med club.
